Cancer Research and Clinical Child Psychology

August 26, 2012

Dr. Sarah Johnson, Chair of CRC, has announced the receipt of a new funding opportunity for the University of British Columbia (UBC) position. The position is in the Faculty of Health Sciences, Faculty of Health. This Chair position will focus on the development of new early intervention programs for children with cancer.

The proposed research is a prominent exemplar in clinical child psychology, with a significant impact on the lives of children and their families. The Chair will focus on the development of innovative research programs that focus on improving the quality of life for children with cancer and their families. The Chair will be expected to develop and lead an integrative research program that addresses the complex needs of children with cancer and their families.

The University of British Columbia (UBC) is a leading research institution with a strong commitment to excellence in teaching, research, and service. The University is a member of the Association of Universities of the Commonwealth (AUC) and a founding member of the Association of Universities of the Americas (AUA). UBC is a comprehensive research university with three campuses: the Vancouver campus, the Okanagan campus, and the Thunderbird School of Global Management.

The Faculty of Health Sciences is committed to excellence in teaching and research and is recognized for its contributions to the health and well-being of the local, national, and international communities. The faculty is composed of more than 3,500 faculty members and more than 11,000 full-time equivalent students. The faculty is committed to the development of innovative research programs that address important health issues and to the delivery of high-quality teaching programs that prepare students for successful careers in health-related fields.

The Chair will be expected to:

1. Develop and lead an integrative research program that addresses the complex needs of children with cancer and their families.
2. Engage in teaching activities at the undergraduate and graduate levels.
3. Develop and maintain a strong research program that is recognized for its excellence.
4. Collaborate with colleagues both within and outside the faculty to develop new research initiatives.
5. Engage in service activities at the local, national, and international levels.

All applicants are encouraged to apply. UBC is committed to employment equity and encourages applications from diverse racial/ethnic and gender identities, sexual orientations, and personal and cultural backgrounds.

Applicants are invited to submit a curriculum vitae and a statement of research and teaching interests. In the statement of research interests, candidates should outline their research projects and the potential impact of their research.

Applicants should also include a statement of teaching interests, including their approach to teaching, their commitment to diversity and inclusion, and their enthusiasm for teaching in a multicultural, research-intensive environment.

Applications should be submitted online at: https://jobs.ubc.ca/job/VP-Human-Resources/9346/.

UBC is an equal opportunity employer, and is committed to employment equity and diversity. UBC is a member of the Canadian Diversity Network (CDN) and the Women's Health Equity Network (WEN). UBC is a partner of the Indigenous Diversity Network (IDN).

The University is committed to creating and maintaining an environment and culture that is inclusive and supportive of all members of the university community. UBC is committed to the principles of equity, diversity, and inclusion, and is committed to promoting a healthy and positive workplace environment.

UBC is a member of the Canadian Diversity Network (CDN) and the Women's Health Equity Network (WEN). UBC is a partner of the Indigenous Diversity Network (IDN).

The University is committed to creating and maintaining an environment and culture that is inclusive and supportive of all members of the university community. UBC is committed to the principles of equity, diversity, and inclusion, and is committed to promoting a healthy and positive workplace environment.

UBC is a member of the Canadian Diversity Network (CDN) and the Women's Health Equity Network (WEN). UBC is a partner of the Indigenous Diversity Network (IDN).

The University is committed to creating and maintaining an environment and culture that is inclusive and supportive of all members of the university community. UBC is committed to the principles of equity, diversity, and inclusion, and is committed to promoting a healthy and positive workplace environment.

UBC is a member of the Canadian Diversity Network (CDN) and the Women's Health Equity Network (WEN). UBC is a partner of the Indigenous Diversity Network (IDN).

The University is committed to creating and maintaining an environment and culture that is inclusive and supportive of all members of the university community. UBC is committed to the principles of equity, diversity, and inclusion, and is committed to promoting a healthy and positive workplace environment.

UBC is a member of the Canadian Diversity Network (CDN) and the Women's Health Equity Network (WEN). UBC is a partner of the Indigenous Diversity Network (IDN).

The University is committed to creating and maintaining an environment and culture that is inclusive and supportive of all members of the university community. UBC is committed to the principles of equity, diversity, and inclusion, and is committed to promoting a healthy and positive workplace environment.

UBC is a member of the Canadian Diversity Network (CDN) and the Women's Health Equity Network (WEN). UBC is a partner of the Indigenous Diversity Network (IDN).

The University is committed to creating and maintaining an environment and culture that is inclusive and supportive of all members of the university community. UBC is committed to the principles of equity, diversity, and inclusion, and is committed to promoting a healthy and positive workplace environment.

UBC is a member of the Canadian Diversity Network (CDN) and the Women's Health Equity Network (WEN). UBC is a partner of the Indigenous Diversity Network (IDN).

The University is committed to creating and maintaining an environment and culture that is inclusive and supportive of all members of the university community. UBC is committed to the principles of equity, diversity, and inclusion, and is committed to promoting a healthy and positive workplace environment.

UBC is a member of the Canadian Diversity Network (CDN) and the Women's Health Equity Network (WEN). UBC is a partner of the Indigenous Diversity Network (IDN).

The University is committed to creating and maintaining an environment and culture that is inclusive and supportive of all members of the university community. UBC is committed to the principles of equity, diversity, and inclusion, and is committed to promoting a healthy and positive workplace environment.

UBC is a member of the Canadian Diversity Network (CDN) and the Women's Health Equity Network (WEN). UBC is a partner of the Indigenous Diversity Network (IDN).

The University is committed to creating and maintaining an environment and culture that is inclusive and supportive of all members of the university community. UBC is committed to the principles of equity, diversity, and inclusion, and is committed to promoting a healthy and positive workplace environment.

UBC is a member of the Canadian Diversity Network (CDN) and the Women's Health Equity Network (WEN). UBC is a partner of the Indigenous Diversity Network (IDN).

The University is committed to creating and maintaining an environment and culture that is inclusive and supportive of all members of the university community. UBC is committed to the principles of equity, diversity, and inclusion, and is committed to promoting a healthy and positive workplace environment.

UBC is a member of the Canadian Diversity Network (CDN) and the Women's Health Equity Network (WEN). UBC is a partner of the Indigenous Diversity Network (IDN).